

A⁹

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A surface treating holder includes a wire which is coiled at distances in such a manner that it is formed as a spring-like tubular structure having spiral-line faces at opposite ends thereof, so that works are accommodated in the tubular structure. A process for surface-treating a plurality of works accommodates the works in the holder, and surface treating the works in the holder while being rotated about an axis of the works.

00000000 051001